

Jonathan Holslag

Contact information:

Working address: Pleinlaan 5, 1050 Brussels

E-mail: jholslag@vub.ac.be

Personal information

Date of Birth: 15 June 1981

Birthplace: St-Niklaas, Belgium

Married, father of two daughters

Bio: Jonathan Holslag (°1981) works on international politics and Asian affairs at the Free University of Brussels. His work focuses on international security and Europe's position in the global order. In 2015, Singapore's Straits Times named him one of Europe's most influential Asia experts.

Jonathan has written five books. His work was translated into seven different languages. China and India: Prospects for Peace (Columbia University Press, 2010), Trapped Giant (IISS and Routledge, 2011), and China's Coming War with Asia (Polity, 2015 with translations in Dutch, German, Korean, Japanese, and Chinese) were all internationally well received. In 2016, the rights were also sold to the publishing house of the Central Party School, to become part of the education programme of China's top leadership. De Kracht van het Paradijs (De Bezige Bij, 2014) became a bestseller in Belgium and the Netherlands. This book argued that Europe needs to spearhead a new economic revolution based on its core human values, quality, and creativity. He now works on a comprehensive history of international relations, as seen from the perspectives of Western and non-Western powers (forthcoming, Polity 2017) and a book on Europe's security environment (forthcoming, Polity 2018).

Jonathan has written over 40 academic papers that were published in journals like International Spectator, the Journal of International Trade, the Washington Quarterly, Journal of Strategic Studies, the Journal of Common Market Studies, Journal of Contemporary China, etc. He is a frequently solicited referee for various international research commissions and has lectured at universities like Harvard, Columbia, Oxford, the London School of Economics, the Central Party School, Tsinghua, Peking University, Fudan University, Delhi University, and Singapore National University. He is a guest lecturer at the Belgian Defense Academy, the Dutch Defense College and the NATO Defense College

Jonathan contributed to various study projects organized by European and international institutions. In 2007 and 2008, he was coordinator of the EU-China Academic Network (ECAN), an academic forum established by the European Commission. He was invited by the European Parliament to provide advise on China's relations with the third world (2007/08) China's economic transition (2011/12), on China's military transition (2012), on maritime security in Asia (2012), and on the relations between Europe and Southeast Asia (2013). For the European Commission he evaluated the EU's Asia Strategy (2008/09), advised on the strategic dialogue with China and India (2010/11), China's trade policy (2011), and the security outlook in Asia (2011/12/13). Jonathan has briefed various European member states, intelligence services, senior officials from China, India, the United States, as well as the US-China Economic and Security Review Commission, NATO, the Chiefs of European Navies (CHENS), the EU Political and Security Committee and the UN Human Rights Council.

Jonathan advised Fortune Global 500 companies on their Asia strategy and is a frequent speaker at internal briefings at board and high executive level. In recent months, he was invited by firms, like Rabobank, Shell, Siemens, Thales, Merit Capital, Credendo, Honeywell, the Dutch Employers Association, Unilever, KPMG, etc.

Besides academic and policy related work, Jonathan regularly comments on current affairs in news media. Shorter pieces of his hand appeared in news outlets like the Financial Times, the Guardian, South China Morning Post, European Voice, the Wall Street Journal, the Globalist, Foreign Policy, the Harvard International Review and EU Observer. He was interviewed by major television channels – such as CNN, BBC, Bloomberg, CCTV, Al Jazeera – and newspapers – like the New York Times, the Financial Times, and the Wall Street Journal. He has a weekly column in Knack and a monthly column on Asia in the South China Morning Post.

Jonathan is a Rockefeller Fellow of the Trilateral Commission (2014), was nominated into the World Economic Forum (2012), is a European delegate at CSCAP (2014), was invited as a visiting a fellow of the Nobel Committee (2014), joined an advisory committee on globalisation of China's President Hu Jintao (2010), and participated in young leader programmes, including those of South Korea, Japan, and Singapore. He is part of strategic foresight reflection groups of intelligence services of two different countries. Jonathan founded of the Friday Group, a reflection group of young Belgian leaders, supported by the King Baudouin Foundation. He sits on the Scientific Board of the Royal Military Academy and the Board of the Flemish Council for Foreign Affairs. In 2015, he was appointed Special Advisor to the first Vice-President of the European Commission, Mr. Frans Timmermans, and a member of the wise men group of the Belgian Minister of Defence.

